Thanks, Ivan! This is a wonderful offer and I'd love to join. I will bring some fresh bread, as well as a delicious terrine from the world famous (at least in some parts of Switzerland and DC) Boucherie D'Ainay. I can also supplement your generous offerings with local white or red wine as well as champagne from the Guyton cave.

Looking forward,
Kate

Guys, we worked hard and I believe that we should have time to relax and get together in a social setting as well. We have gotten to know each other pretty well, but I am sure we all would enjoy a little time together outside of the meeting rooms at IARC. I have a few bottles of wine and a bottle of whisky and the cheese, fruit and sausage from the market yesterday to go with it. So we really need nothing else unless you really wish to bring something...

My place is about 15 min walk from Bellecour across the Seine river near Gare St. Paul:

<https://www.google.com/maps/place/Place+Gerson,+69005+Lyon,+France/@45.7669684,4.8283191,15z>

If we wish to ride together from IARC straight there, it is Metro D to Vieux Lyon and then a 7 minute walk. Bus 40 goes from Bellecour to St. Paul as well.

The exact address is 7 Place Gerson, and it is a 3-story house next to a taller building with #7 on it.

I will show a map in our mtg at the coffee break as well.

Thanks,

Ivan
